EMPLOYMENT OF GRADUATES.

The department has a developed network of contacts with domestic enterprises and organizations, financial institutions and government bodies. Partners of the department regularly conduct presentations and master classes for students, give guest lectures, participate in round tables, etc. The purpose of such events is to familiarize students in advance with the features of working in various companies and help them choose a specialty.

Graduates of our department are in demand in the labor market. They build successful careers in leading companies in Kyrgyzstan, government agencies, create their own businesses, obtain a master's degree or teach. According to the results of monitoring the employment of graduates of the department, there is a trend of constant growth and in recent years, the percentage of employment of graduates has been more than 75%.

OUR STUDENTS ARE OUR PRIDE!

Thanks to high educational results in their studies, students take prizes at intra-university, inter-university and international Olympiads in special disciplines, scientific and student conferences, sections and sporting events.

The department regularly holds round tables with companies in various sectors of the economy. Issues of compliance of training programs with the needs of companies are discussed.

Guest lectures.

Companies that want to interact more closely with students are actively invited to conduct guest lectures, seminars, trainings, etc. The lecturer can be one or several company employees.

Project work.

Companies can involve students in ongoing activities and entrust them with developing an individual or group project, for example, collecting and analyzing data, developing a financial model. For the company, this is an opportunity to evaluate the competencies of students using real problems and select the best for an internship or job.

Participation in the defense of final works.

The company's employees are members of the State Certification Commission for the defense of diplomas and final qualifying works. Potential employers evaluate students' knowledge and presentation skills.
